FAST WORK ON SPEEDWAY.

NOTWITHSTANDING A BLISTERING ATMOSPHERE THE SPORT IS LIVELY. Dr. Gill Gots a Line on Anhouser by Pitting Sim Against Jack—Teams of Capt. McDon-ald and C. R. Jarvis Meet.—One of the rvis Horses Has an Interesting History. Every reinsman who essayed the Speedway restorday morning encountered a blistering througher at the foot of the hill. It was at enough on the roads approaching the drive, but it might be considered cool in comparison with the sultriness under the cliffs bordering the drive. The little breeze caused by the otion of the vehicles over the stretches was like the air coming up out of a basement boiler and drivers mopped the perspiration from their faces with one hand while engineering their horses with the other. Those who bravely faced the heat were well satisfied with

and brushed as though it was just to their The road was rather hard, but just right for the pacers. Dr. H. D. Gill's gray pacing gelding Anheuser, 2:24%, that Mr. Pennock brought from Cleveland a short time ago, was going like a streak of lightning and Jack, 2:12%, the big pacer that won the Speedway Cup at the Empire City track last fall, also appeared to have all of his old-time speed. He was driven by Mrs. Gill and in three heats down from the quarter pole at the bend to right under Washington Bridge demonstrated high-class racing form. With a view to getting a line on Anhenser, Dr.

showed better than they have for quite a while

Gill started him against Jack, and it was a gruelling brush from start to finish. They were scarcely more than heads apart until they reached the foot of the slight rise going to the bridge, when Jack let out a link and reached the top by a scant half length in the lead. The second time down was more exciting than the first. Both went away like a tash, but neither was able to lose the other. Looking at them from the point of rocks, they appeared as though they might be hooked to pole. No watch was held on them, but they went mighty fast, skinning over the hard, het road at a gait that would require the speed of a Coney or a Prince Aiert to beat handily. As they passed the point above the bridge where the crowd usually stands to watch the sport, a few witted and perspiring individuals who the crown usually stantes to which the sport, the few willed and perspiring individuals who had almost braved death itself to see them, roused up and cheered with considerable roused up and cheered with considerable energy.

Approaching the bridge both Doctor and Mrs Gill did everything known to experts to get all the speed out of them. Both animals responded gamely and it required the decision of one who stood at the finishing line to determine the victor. The decision favored Anheuser, he having been a short neck ahead under the bridge. After a cooling-out spell the paces were brought out for a third trial, and, as in the previous ones, they got away well together and again they hit the road like champions. They fought every inch of the way, lack, with his long neck stretched, never went better and the good-gaited gray, attending strictly to business, kept head and head with the bay. They went by the few spectators like afash and so nearly even were they at the finish that it was mutually agreed between the drivers to call it a dead heat. Dr. Gill is so well pleased with the showing made by Anheuser t. is more than likely to enter him in the free-for-all pacing road-wagon race at the Empire City Grand Circuit meeting. He is an honest pacer, rarely makes a mistake, and good judges believe that he went many seconds faster than his record yesterday. He had some advantage over Jack in weight, being hooked to a bike cart, while Jack drew a wagon.

Bernard Zahn, when he drove up in the morn-

Bernard Zahn, when he drove up in the morning, did so with the intention of simply giving his favorite, Oscar, 2:20%, a short breather, and a resolve not to get mixed up in a brush. George fluber floated along with Prince Altara, hooked to a bike cart, and the chance for an argument with the big chestnut was so good that Mr. Zahn could not resist it, and what he did to the Prince was "good and plenty." While the brush was not on the hurricane order, they went fast, and Elvol, by El Mahdi, Joined in it. The Prince and Elvol were tooled energetically, but Oscar had no apparent trouble in landing with a good lead.

Cant. C. H. McDonald was out behind a fine-looking, well-matched team of browns. They can trot some, too. They are a pair which formerly belonged to Lawson N. Fuller and were in his team of six-in-hand that he drove to the world's record at that hitch, 2:56. They also made a pair in his team of eight-in-hand, which Mr. Fuller drove a mile in 3:06 and could have gone faster, but for the fact that one of the eight pulled up lame after what he had intended as simply a warming-up mile. Capt. McDonald has had the team only a short time and if all indications go for anything they ard Zahn, when he drove up in the morn-as simply a warming-up mile. Capt. McDonald has had the team only a short time and if all indications go for anything they are going to prove troublesome to many of the crack pairs that frequent the great drive. With what little work they have received they show a lot of speed and are almost perfect drivers. In a little skirmish yesterday with the team driven by C. R. Jarvis they demonstrated winning ability as a brush team. The two teams made an exceedingly pretty race, and although Mr. Jarvis has not yet got his horses keyed up to the pitch he wants them, they went down to the bridges at a tearing gait. A surprising feature about the brush was that neither pair made a break from start to finish. At the half-mile pole above the bridge the McDonald team had the later in the day Mr. Jarvis grushed his team.

Later in the day Mr. Jarvis orushed his team up the hill to 155th street with a racy-looking trotter hooked to an up-to-date bike wagon and won at the top by a length. There is quite an interesting history connected with one of the Jarvis pair. He is a good-looking bay, a fair-gated trotter and can go fast. Nothing whatever is known of his pedigree, although he is evidently well bred. Last winter as Mr. Jarvis was passing along Sixth avenue in the vicinity of Twenty-ninth street, a fire engine rattled by and frightened a horse hitched to a fish pedier's wagon. Under ordinary circumstances he would have paid only little attention to the runaway, but the fact that the horse went up the street at wonderful speed, without once breaking a trot, aroused his curiosity and he followed.

Several blocks away the animal was stopped and when the fish pedier came up he was asked about the horse and where he got him. All he could tell was that a few months before he had been in the vicinity of Fifty-ninth street when a runaway horse upset a buggy near him, containing a man, his wife and child. He assisted them and when the horse was brought up the man, angry at having been upset, told the fish pedier to take the horse and keep him, as he never wanted to set eyes on him again. That was all the fish man knew.

"He is quite handy at running away," said Mr. Jarvis.

That was all the fish man knew.

"He is quite handy at running away," said Mr. Jarvis.

"Tes, he seems to have that habit," replied the fish man.

"What'll you take for him?"

"Oh, almost anything. A hundred dollars."

"Ill give you eighty-five."

"Take him along."

The horse has been in Mr. Jarvis's stable ever since. At t at time he was gaunt and thin, evidently half fed and hard worked, yet the fact that he ran away and kept on a trot all the time, convinced his new owner that he had accidently sturn led across a prize. His less, with constant and skilful attention, are now getting into first-class shape, and with proper handling he has shown no disposition to run away. Mr. Jarvis feels confident that by the time the autumn diving is on, he will be able to show the way to many of the crack-a-jacks of the Speedway.

The fast pacer King Egbert, 2:09%, was jogged up rather late yesterday by Mr. J. Leonard and, although he did not find anything to brush with, he sent the good-looking bay a breezy work out through the stretches. He was timed over the half mile in 103%, a 2:11 gait, and it appeared to be easy work for the King.

Henry Zahn with his brushy bay trotting mare Dundess, 2:23%, for a wonder kept out of the arguments. He said that he only drove up to the Speedway to give his mare a little conditioning jog and did not feel like brushing. He is one of the most enthusiastic roadites on the drive and it is very seldom that he will refuse to go with any of them.

J. P. Robertson drove his gray favorite, Flash, but did nothing more than jog up to the dubhouse and return. Dr. Layton, accompanied by his wif, drove a chestnut colt. When the storm broke over Washington Height, there were only one or two rigs on the Speedway and these were handy to shelter. Several reliamen sat on the porch at Trojers and watched the play of the lightning over the hills. It struck a frame house at the upper end of the drive were only one or two rigs on the Speedway was a mortar bed from end to end.

Old Penn's Football Team Will Start Training on Sept. 12.

Coach George W. Woodruff of the University Pennsylvania football team has announced hat the candidates for positions on the 'Varsity even have been ordered to report at Franklin field on Sept. 12. It was intended at first to Field on Sept. 12. It was intended at first to have the candidates report at Eagles Mere, but Woodruff says that idea has been abandoned for the reason that while only about twenty-five or thirty men could go to Eagles Mere, all the eveloped and undeveloped material in the college can turn out for a trial, at Franklin Field, He expects that i ver fifty candidates will be on hand on the above date. When asked about the chances of Kraer zie n trying for a place on the chan the coach said that he was not sure whether the great hurder would take a post-fraduate course or not, but hoped that he would, as he thoughthe would make an excellant man on the gridiron.

Many Crack Crows in Training for the Hobe ken and Middle States Regattas. The scorching heat of the last few days had regattas and only a few of the crews ventured out yesterday morning. After the shower had cooled the air, however, there was a rush for sculls and sweeps and the activity of the afternoon practice made amends for the light work of the morning. The candidates from the Harlem for honors at the Hoboken regatta on next Saturday will make a big bid for victory in several of the events. There appears to be no prospect of a junior eightoared crew going to Hoboken from the Harlem River, but in the junior four-oared gig race, Atalanta and Wyanokes will be represented. The senior single and double gig races scheduled for the regatta on the Guttenburg course are, however, causing more interest than the four-oared event. The former contest will have Mehrhoff of the Nassaus, Budre of the Bohemians and the old-timer, W. Mulcaire, of the Dauntless. If the las named was in good condition he would be established favorite, as his noted skin gig is the fastest boat of its kind in this locality. Mulcaire's hands are in poor shape, however, and the betting sharps are therefore at a loss to pick a favorite. In the senior double gigs the Issue is expected to lie between Joe Maher and Harry bought of the Harlem R. C. and Mehrhoff and J. R. Crawford of the Nassaus. The Bohemian eight has been rowing every night for a week in preparation for the senior race at the Middle States regatta, but, perhaps owing to the spell of hot weather, the men did not row yesterday with the snap that they showed before the National. The Dauntless crew, which will make its first appearance as a senior in this event, will begin training to night. The race is expected to be between these crews, and the indifferent work of the "Bohoes" has established Davy Roach's boys slight favorites. The junior eight event will probably be fought out by clubs not located on the Harlem, though there is talk of the Dauntless getting up a crew. The attempt to organize a junior eight at the Atalantas, has failen through, but there will be plenty of entries for the event.

ize a junior eight at the Atalantas, has failen through, but there will be pienty of entries for the event.

From indications the race of the day at the Middle States regatta will be the senior four-oared. This is an event that usually fills poorly, but there are in training a number of equally matched fours, from which it will be diffleuit to pick a winner. The Institutes of Newark will be represented by the four that was only beaten a third of a length by the noted Vesper crew at the National regatta, while the K. A. C. will have four of the best men out of the disbanded eight. Capt. Mackey of the Nassaus, has abandoned the idea of putting a senior eight in the regatta, but has a fine lot of oarsmen to select a four from. The Harlem Rowing Club will also be in the field for the race. The make-up of the crew has not been decided. The men who were practising yesterday in view of the contest were Maher, Rooney, Hoffman and Scannell, but it is quite possible that the crew may be strengthened by the addition of the crack sculler Romohr, before the race. The Union B. C. also had the following out yesterday practising for the senior four event: M. Cornell, L. Connell, Farrelly and Rogers.

Next in interest to the four-oared race will be the junior pair-oared event. There is no previous form to go on, but the Metropolitan R. C. pair is considered to have a good chance. It will be made up of W. Goepfert and J. P. Binzen. The former has an enviable record as a sculler, having scored two victories in the National double-scull race, with O'Reagan as a partner. Goepfert is still a finior with the sweeps. Binzen has stroked several metropolitan junior crews and the pair made a good showing in the spin yesterday. Mulcahy and Kafka of the Atalantas and Hoffman and Crawford of the Nonparells are also training for the event. The Union B. C. will also have a pair in the race.

J. A. Romohr of the Harlem R. C. and E. C. Titus of the Young Men's Gymnastic Chib of New Orleans are both training for the senior single race. The latte for the event.

From indications the race of the day at the Middle States regatta will be the senior four-

The Lone Star B. C. had a single gig handicap race on Saturday, which was won by J. Katz, 15 seconds. L. Solomon. 20 seconds, was second. The scratch man, E. Keller, finished a close race on Saturday, which was won by J. Katz, 15 seconds. L. Solomon. 20 seconds, was second. The scratch man, E. Keller, finished a close third.

The regatta of the Staten Island B. C., which will take place on the Kill von Kull on next Saturday, is creating great interest owing to the return match between the four-oared shell crews of the Staten Island B. C. and Clifton B. C. The latter won the first race early in the season, but the Staten Island officials determined to get even, and engaged as coach John Fitzpatrick, who turned out many winning crews from the Palisade B. C. Fitzpatrick has twenty-six men in training. His crews include two junior eights and the four for the match race. The men who will row against the Cliftons were selected yesterday, as follows: L. Le Farge, bow: R. Cockran, 2: V. Garrett, 3: T. Garrett, stroke. The mother of Heneken, who rowed a strong oar at bow in the junior eight training for the Middle States regatta, died last week. La Farge took his place in the boat yesterday. Fitzpatrick also changed Donald into the 2 seat in place of Miller, the latter now rowing at 6. The change has made an improvement. The Staten Islanders may also enter a junior four gig at the Middle States regatta. In addition to the invitation four-oared shell race, the following events will be decided at the Staten Island regatta: single scull, double shell, four-oared barge, eightoared shell, swimming and tub races.

The Metropolitan R. C., at a meeting held last week decided to move from its present quarters, near the Third avenue bridge, where the club has been located for nearly twenty years, to a place nearer the Speedway course. The action of the Metropolitans reopened the subject of suitable quarters being provided on city ground for the oarsmen, shere they will not be required to go to the expense of moving again in a short while. It was suggested that steps be taken to get permission from the Park Board for the clubs to-occupy the strip of land opposite the Speedway, which is admirably adapted for th

Gentlemen's Driving Club of Boston Arranges a Fall Meeting.

Boston, Aug. 12.—The Executive Committee of the Gentlemen's Driving Club has selected track. The $1,000 perpetual challenge cup will be competed for by matinee trotters from all over the country and in order to give the owners of pacers a show, it has been decided to offer a cup valued at $500, to be competed for under the same conditions as those governing the cup for trotters. From information furnished to C. M. Jewett at Cleveland and other Western cities, it is believed that there will be keen competition for the trophies by Western amateur drivers. Another feature of the meeting will be the attempt of John Shepard to establish a new world's record for trotting teams. To accomplish this he has invested over $10,000 in the trotting gelding Senator L., 2:12, and Altro L. 2:11¼, two horses which will make a remarkably well matched team in all the essentials of speed, gait and size. The full programme for the two day's meeting is as follows:
Trotting—3:00, 2:40, 2:30, 2:20, 2:20, 2:15, all for ribbons; free-for-all for $1,000 challenge cup.
Pacing—2:25 and 2:15 for ribbons; free-for-all for $500 challenge cup.

$500 challenge cup.
All races are to be one-mile heats, best two in three, to wagon. A deed of gift in regard to the challenge cup has been drawn up. It is as follows:
In order to stimulate the sport of amateur racing the Gentlemen's Driving Club of Boston offers a cup of the value of $1,000 for competition, under the following conditions:
This cup shall be known as the Amateur Drivers' Challenge Trophy. It shall be awarded to trotters, and shall be competed for under the rules governing the contests of the Gentlemen's Driving Club of Boston. It shall be open to competition to any member of a gentlemen's driving club of recognised amateur standing. (An amateur is defined as one who has never accepted compensation for his services as driver or trainer).

standing. (An almost stated as one who has never accepted compensation for his services as driver or trainer).

The competition for the cup between the various clubs shall be held annually, at a regular place of meeting of the club holding the cup, and must take place between the 1st day of September and the 1sth day of October following; and notice of the date must be sent to the secretaries of the various amateur driving clubs at least one month before the date set for the competition.

A horse, in order to be eligible to compete for the cup, must have started in at least one matinee during the season. The cup shall be challenged for in the name of the club of which the challenger is a member. A challenger may nominate two horses to compete, but must elect which he will start three days before the competition takes place.

In case there are ten or more starters for the cup, the field shall be divided, and the winners of each division shall compete the following day.

The cup shall become the property of the club winning it three times. Should three years clapse without competition the cup shall become the property of the Gentlemen's Driving Club of Boston.

GOSSIP OF THE RUNNERS. A PROMISING PROGRAMME FOR THE

WEEK AT SARATOGA. its effect on the men in training for the fall Defeat of Ethelbert Is Attributed to a Bad Start-Growing Desire to Have the Belment Crack and Voter Meet at One Mile-Pres-pect of Keen Competition in Stake Events The sensation of the week in racing circles was furnished by the unexpected defeat of Ethelbert in the Beverwyck Handicap at Saratoga. Few expected that the horse would start so soon after his gruelling drive in the Brighton Cup, and his appearance at the post after a hurried trip to the Springs was a big surprise to his admirers. They only played him in a lukewarm way, believing that his preparation for the cup event and his abrupt transfer to Saratoga had taken the edge off his speed. The result showed that these calculations were all wrong, and that the gallant son of Eothen-Maori would have won with anything like a fair break. As it was he demonstrated that he was the best horse in the race. and Kinley Mack must be considered a very lucky winner. This revives the question as to the relative merits of Voter and Ethelbert at one mile, and horsemen are still hoping that these two giants of the turf may be brought logether before the season ends.

Both horses are now on edge and as Jack Joyner is reported to have solid money to wager on Ethelbert against Kinley Mack, it is not improbable that a similar offer to James Rowe, the trainer of Voter, might bear fruit. The trainer of Kinley Mack does not want to brush up against Ethelbert as he freely admits that his horse is unsound and incapable of extending himself except on a track soft and cushiony enough to suit his weak hoofs.

The ensuing week promises to be a banne

one at Saratoga, as with a programmerichly

deserving of patronage and in the absence of all opposition, both quantity and quality should be in evidence on the card from day to day. In previous years the acceptances were so light that the Spa came to be known more as an equine sanitarium than as a centre of thoroughbred racing. This sea-son, however, has introduced a healthier system and the fields are away above the standard in numbers and class. The management took a lesson from previous experience and the recent wreckage of fields at Brighton Beach, and devised a most ingenious compromise scheme which is bearing fruit. In most of the over-night races, entries have been free and this appeals to the cupidity of the class of owners that will only take a chance when there is nothing to lose. As an offset to this owners who enter and wish to withdraw must pay 10 per cent. of the first money. The results so far have been eminently satisfactory, and the "blue pencil" is receiving a much-needed rest. Skeleton fields no longer upset the tempers and calculations of racegoers who like to have a bet down every time the flag drops. Nearly every race during the current meeting presents a good guessing problem and the consequent increuse in patronage is most gratifying to the "men behind the guns."

A card which would command attention on one of the metropolitan tracks is the attraction at the Springs to-day. Fifteen of the all-aged division are engaged in the first race, a dash of five furlongs. The scale is on the high-weight order, but there are liberal allowances which bring the majority well together. The second race is a handicap for three-year-olds and upward, at one mile and three-sixteenths, and it brings out an unusually good lot, including Bannockburn, 12c; Advance Guard, 11c David Garrick, 11s, and The Bacheler 12c. The star feature, however, is the McGrathiana Stakes for two-year-olds, with colts barred. Its guaranteed value is $2,500, and the distance is five furlongs. The candidates not entitled to allowances are Sweet Lavender, Lady Schorr and Tower of Candles and ten others are engaged with weight concessions of from six to fourteen pounds. With an average acceptance it sholud be a rousing race as there is little to choose between the lot on public form. and the recent wreckage of fields at Brighton Beach, and devised a most ingenious compro-as there is little to choose between the lot on public form.

The stake item scheduled for to-morrow is the Kensington Hurdle Handicap of $1,200 to be run at two miles over eight obstacles. Fourteen representative timber toppers are engaged and should furnish a spectacular contest. Nothing special outside an overnight handicap is slated for Wednesday, but Thursday is set apart in the book as "Garden Party Day," with special attractions. An overnight handicap for three-year olds and upward, at one mile and a furlong, paves the way for the Mumm Handicap of $5,000 for two-year olds, at six furlongs, and the special card winds up with the Saratoga Hunt Cup, a steeplechase at about two miles and a half. RAIN STOPS CINCINNATI-NEW YORK GAME. RAIN STOPS CINCINNATI-NEW YORK GAME.
CINCINNATI, Aug. 12.—The Cincinnatis and the New Yorks played four and a half innings to-day, and then a heavy rain fell when the Cincinnatis had one man out in the fifth. Consequently the game does not count. The score was 2 to 1 in favor of the New Yorks. The pitchers were Carrick and Newton, both of whom were slightly wiid. Three hits were made off Carrick and seven off Newton. The home team scored in the second inning on a single and a bunch of errors. Successive singles by Selbach, Doyle and Smith gave New York one in the third, and Doyle's safe bunt and a brace of errors were good for another in the fifth. The attendance was very light.

PITTSBURG, 6; CHICAGO, 2. PITTSBURG, 6; CHICAGO, 2.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Pittsburg won a ratiling game from Chicago this afternoon by hard and lucky hitting. Tannehili was an enigma to the home batters, and although brilliant fielding kept Chicago within reaching distance, hits would not come when they were needed. The neiding of Ritchey, Ely, Bradley and McCormick kept the big crowd yelling with delight. Lucky hits gave the Pirates their first three runs, the other three being gained by clean slugging and pretty work on the bases. Score:

FOUR GOLF TOURNAMENTS.

OPEN EVENTS THIS WEEK OVER LINKS FAR FROM THE METROPOLIS. Richfield Springs, Bar Harbor, the White Mountains and Shinnecock Hills Offer Attractions for the Players-An Englishman's

Four open tournaments will engage the atention of golfers this week. So far as the men are concerned the most important is the three day meeting at the Waiontha Golf Club of Richfield Springs, to-day, to-morrow and on Wednesday. The course, a very good one of nine holes, is only seven miles from the Otsego Golf Club, the scene of last week's open tournament and these metropolitan players will stop over to swell the lists in the Waiontha's first open event; A. D. Compton, Devereaux Emmett, Artemas Holmes, Paul B. Cooke, W. Scott O'Connor, the former amateur fencing champion; F. B. Burnett and G. Fox Tiffany. Other New York-ers entered are Richard Croker, Jr.; Frank Croker and Charles A. Eddy. After the gold nedal has been won in the qualifying round o-day the interest will centre in the match play between the first sixteen for the Richfield cup. All without the barriers will play in a handicap to-morrow for a consolation cup, their ratings being based on the scores made to-day. The women will also play in a qualifying round, the first eight keeping on for a cup at match play. There will be second prizes in all events. The annual open tournament for the Hinkle cup and minor prizes will be the event of the week at the Kebo Valley Country Club. Unlike most open affairs, it is on a handicap basis throughout, on the plan of many of the competitions held at the Palmetto Golf Club, the winter links of quite a number of the Bar Harbor sojourners. In the White Mountains the first week of the annual fortnight of open golfing at the Waumbek Golf Club will start this morning with a qualifying round, at ten holes for women players. There will be another round under the same conditions to-morrow. The players making the eight best total scores for the two days will keep on at match play for the Waumbek cup, the second eight for the Jefferson cup, and the third eight for the Consolation cup. The match play will also be at ten holes, the final rounds being decided on Friday. On next Monday and Tuesday there will be eighteen-hole qualifying rounds for men, the first, second and third eights on their aggregate scores meeting at match play for cups. Last year there were only two cups for each division. The Waumbek cup for women was won by Miss Agnes Davis of Lakewood, and the Consolation cup by Mrs. X. P. Porter of the Essex County Country Club. The first cup for men was won by E. N. Stochr of Baltusrol, and the second by G. B. Tilton of the Country Club of Brookline. be another round under the same conditions second by G. B. Tilton of the Country Club of Brookline.

To round up this record of the week's events.

second by G. B. Thion of the Councy Cashes.

Brookline.

To round up this record of the week's events, over the sand dunes of the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, a large field of women have entered to start this afternoon in the qualifying round for the A. B. Boardman cup. The conditions announce that this tourney is only for associate members and subscribers, but as the links are accessible to subscribers on very liberal arrangements, it is virtually an open affair. The tournament is of especial importance from the fact that in a fortnight the annual women's championship of the U. S. G. A. will begin at Shinnecock Hills, and it is expected that a number of the players with championship aspirations will start this week to study the course and to get on edge for the greater event. The qualifying round will be at eighteen holes over the full course, the club offering prizes for the three lowest scores. All will be at scratch in the medal round, but the sixteen who qualify for the Boardman cup are to keep on at handicap match play, the ratings being based on the scores made in the qualifying round. The entries from the home club will include Miss Beatrix Hoyt, Miss Wickham, Miss Barney Miss Russell and Miss Julia Clark. At the last women's tournament held at this club, an invitation one, Miss Beatrix Hoyt won the low score medal play, and, in the handleap match play, after very close calls in the earlier rounds, she won the cup by beating Miss Caryl Eidlitz in the final. In the final for the Consolation cup Mrs. A. DeWitt Cochrane won from Miss Julia Clark. All the play throughout the week will be in the afternoons, one round each day.

J. H. Taylor, the open champion, and his -

J. H. Taylor, the open champion, and his partner, George H. Cann, left their hotel very early yesterday morning to take in the sights of the city. The visiting golfer, by the way, registered as Henry Taylor at the hotel. Something definite regarding his trip may develop to-day. The following from Golf Illustrated of Aug. 3 is of interest:

Aug. 3 is of interest:

Some of the American papers, in welcoming the news of Taylor's visit to the States, are saying that there is little likelihood of a match between the open champion and Vardon until near the end of the season, the reason being that Vardon's managers do not care to risk his defeat, profits being dependent on prestige. This may possibly be business but it is certainly not sport. But I doubt very much if it is business. Vardon and Taylor are as nearly matched as may be, and the chances are that in a series of matches there would be nothing in it. Moreover, Vardon has been defeated by Taylor, and from the business point of view it would be wise to demonstrate that Taylor is not his superior. Besides, if Vardon is not allowed to meet Taylor, people who do not know the business view will be apt to find another reason for their not meeting, which would be most unfair to Vardon.

The weak points in the remarks from Golf

unfair to Vardon.

The weak points in the remarks from Golf.

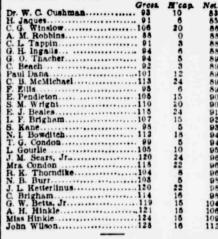

The weak points in the remarks from Golf. don is timeer engagement to play disconnected a tour that will leave him only a very few days of liberty before the open championship. It would be neither sport nor business to cancel these dates to make a new series with Taylor. It would be within the rights of the different clubs along the route, however, to secure Taylor to meet Vardon. After his engagements in Canada it is understood that Vardon is to return to this city for a few days before going West. Should this be the case it is likely that Vardon and Taylor will meet on a Metropoliton links during September, for the St. Andrews Golf Club, for one, has already made overtures for the match. "Barkis is willing" so far as Vardon is concerned, for dogged courage is the mainspring of his character, and, as those who have met him since his return know, he is only too eager for a chance to wipe out the memorry of his defeat by Taylor in Scotland last June.

BAR HARBOR, Aug. 12.—The golf events at the Kebo Valley Country Club were a mixed foursomes, putting competition for special cups and the weekly handicap. The former was won by Miss Arline Davis and J. D. Ireland, won by Miss Arline Davis and D. Herbert Miss McLane and Herbert Jaques being second.

QUEER HAPPENINGS AT FRENCH GAMES

Interesting Details of the International Meet

in Letter From A. G. Spalding. The latest foreign mail contained a letter from A. G. Spalding, who is now in Paris, commenting on some of the salient and novel features of the recent international games of which he was the American Director of Sports. Though not so well managed as the English championship games, it appears that there were many innovations at the meeting held on the Bois de Boulogne, that will serve as a pattern for American managers of sports. The following is an extract from Mr. Spalding's

"In relation to the management of the games here they are good in a way, provided you know the language and customs of the country. A little incident will show just how it affected our boys. Apparently the French have a rule that the clerk of the course shall call the name three times before the event commences; if you do not respond you are counted out. Several Princeton pole vaulters, and Orton, Holman and Dvorack of Michigan, were lying under a tree watching the racers, and not being able to understand French failed to respond to the call of their names, and when they appeared for the pole vault, just after the first vault, they were not allowed to compete; thus causing some unpleasant talk and lots of arguments, in which vigorous French and American adjectives were beautfully mixed up. Another incident will illustrate: When the prizes were given out by the French officials, Mr. Tysoe of England was called by the Frenchman as 'Monsieur Ti-so-a,' and it was not until an interpreter called for Mr. Tysoe that the latter appeared. John Flanagan was also a victim of the French pronunciation. He was called 'Monsieur Flan-i-gaw,' and since the tim of the French pronunciation. He was called 'Monsieur Flan-i-gaw,' and since the meeting the American champion hammer thrower is known among his Paris associates as 'Flan-i-gaw.'

"The grounds where the championship events were held were those of the Racing Club, in the Bois de Boulogne. They are very pretty grounds indeed, but not laid out as are our grounds in America, for the purpose of accommodating thousands of people. It is what we would call a country club. The track is of grass, and that to a certain extent handicapped our boys. The jumping places were fairly good, and for the broad jump they have more of an incline toward the take-off than we have in America. The boxes for the discus and hammer were very good indeed, the earth being packed very solidly, and in some respects it was superior to the average American grounds from which our boys are called upon to throw.

"Their method of judging has been favorably commented upon. The judges are in a special stand by themselves, and I have not heard one complaint during my stay here as to their decisions. In fact, Americans here who have handled games for years tell me their decisions as to finals were remarkably fair. One wag in the party remarked that they could not do anything else, because the Americans always won by a very large margin. Several little arrangements were certainly worth copying in America. They have before each heat or race takes place, the event is sent up with the number of each starter. Therefore the public can easily check their programmes, and know just who is going to run.

"Their method of measuring the pole vault and high jump is, if anything, superior to our present custom; the shot is put from a box and on the ground, say, beginning at thirty feet, there are white stripes a foot apart, and each man's put is located by a little fiag with his number on it. Thus the public can easily see first, second, third, fourth and fifth men without announcements.

"The hurdles are similar to ours and those of England. The funniest feature of the whole meeting was the starter. He said to the boys: 'Get ready: attention,' and then the pistol. Well, you can imagine how this affected our boys, when given to them in French. The result was that some were gone when the pistol was fired. After some kicking, Sanford, the old Yale man and Columbia coach, was called upon to act as starter and did his work well.

"The American boys have been royally entertained. Baron de Coubertin gave them a reception. The Vice-Pres ident of the Municipality of Parls and the President of the Amateur Athletic Association entertained the visitors at the Hotel de Ville. The French Amateur Association gave them an elegant banquet on the racing grounds, where speeches were made by representatives of all the countries, and Commissioner-General Peck showed his appreciation of the Department of Athletics and the American athletes and champions by tendering to them in the United States Pavilion one of the most elaborate banquets ever given to any athletic constituency in the world. At this banquet Commissioner-General Peck, Ambassador Porter, Senator Depew, several of the United States Commissioners and others praised the American athlete in the most glowing terms, and in return for the kind words expressed after each speech the American college men, who were grouped together around the horseshoe table, gave their famous college, yells. This feature was so different from the ordinary state dinner that the hundreds of guests thoroughly appreciated ir, and, all in all, it was a typical American college gathering.

"The Commissioner-General and officials seemed very much pleased with the marvelous showing made bythe young men of American during the evening frequently referred to the fact that America was rapidly becoming a nation that was a great ni shire Has Been Abandoned. The Secretary of the Associated Cricket Clube of Philadelphia has received a communication from S. H. Wood, the captain of the Derbyshire Cricket Club, announcing the abandonment of the tour which a team under his captaincy was to have made here in the autumn. Much dis-appointment has been expressed both in this city and Philadelphia over the fact that the trip has been declared off. The team was to have played in New York on Labor Day. It is understood that several of the best players who had originally promised to come backed out at the last moment, and that Mr. Wood did not think it wise to bring out any other than a first-class eleven. In place of the matches with foreign teams which are annually played at Philadelphia, the Associated Cricket Clubs are trying to arrange a game with the Canadians to take place about the middle of September, and also to change the date of the intercity game with New York, scheduled to be played on Labor Day, to a date later in the month.

Only two more games remain to be played for the cricket championship of New York, and the K. A. C. and the Livingston Field Club are still at ite for the lead. The two clubs will meet next Saturday. Kings County and Brooklyn are keeping up their struggle for second place in the New York Cricket Association series. Brooklyn has only two more games to play, both of which should be won, but Kings County has to meet Paterson team A. The records: have played in New York on Labor Day. It is

In the contest for individual trophies W. S. R. Ogilby has again assumed the lead in the batting averages, with 62.00; F. J. Prendergast is second, 55.42, and M. R. Cobb third, 35.42. Then these follow: A. B. Mifflin, 34.75; F. W. T. Stiles, 32.20; F. Kelly, 32.00, J. Flannery, 31.00; W. Adam, 25.00, and A. V. Clarke, 26.20. The leaders in bowling are: M. R. Cobb first, with 5.20 and F. F. Kelly second, with 6.41. There is no doubt about the pair being the best bowlers in New York. J. Adam has taken 3 wickets for 5.66, but as he has bowied only 59 balls he cannot qualify for the prize.

Entries and Conditions for the Annual Tournament at Newport.

While the Newport residents will not be entertained by the visit of an English polo team this summer, the programmes sent out by the Polo Association show that the admirers of the fastest game on horseback will see good matches. Play in the regular tournament will be under the auspices of the Westchester Pole Club, the oldest club devoted to the game in the United States, which had its headquarters at Fifth avenue and 110th street until the change to Newport about a dozen years ago. The tournament will begin on next Saturday, but there will be practice matches every day this week.

Saturday's match will be the first for the week.

Saturday's match will be the first for the Newport cups, individual prizes, open to teams of four of which a player's handicap does not exceed six goals. The opposing teams will be the Point Judith Country Club, made up of W. A. Hazard. R. La Montagne, Jr., Seward Cary and Maxwell Norman, and the PhiladelphiaFreebooters, George McFadden, A.E. Kennedy, Charles Wheeler and J. Frank McFadden. The latter team at twenty-two goals, has to concede seven goals by handicap. On Aug. 20 the winning team will play the final game with the Country Club of Westchester four, E. Revnal, George W. Kendrick, 3d, a recent accession from Devon; R. J. Collier and P. F. Collier. This team's aggregate handicap is fifteen goals.

For the remainder of the week the play will be for the Westchester Polo Club oups, open to all teams of four under the regular handicaps. On Aug. 22 Myopla's four, C. G. Rice, R. G. Shaw, R. L. Agassiz and F. B. Fay, conceding three goals, will meet the Philadelphia Freebooters. On Thursday the play will be between the teams of the Country Club of Westchester and the Point Judith Country Club of Narragansett Pler. The winning team in these two matches will meet in the final on Aug. 25. All the matches at Newport will begin at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.
